

Michael McCully, New View Advisors

Michael McCully is a career investment banker with almost 40 years of transaction, investment, and operational experience. New View Advisors provides strategic advisory, product development, credit risk management, and valuation services to the reverse mortgage industry. Mike worked on some of the mortgage industry's earliest structured cash flow transactions before establishing himself in corporate finance and M&A in the 1990s. In the decade prior to forming New View Advisors in 2008, he led teams of professionals to buy, sell, and operate portfolio companies at Lehman Brothers, including Financial Freedom Senior Funding Corporation, then the nation's largest reverse mortgage originator and servicer. Mr. McCully received his BA in Economics from Cornell University.
