

Jay Wright, Partner

Bradley

Jay Wright is a partner in the firm's Banking and Financial Services and Litigation practice groups. Jay has earned his Accredited Mortgage Professional (AMP) designation through the Mortgage Bankers Association (MBA) and is one of a small number of lawyers who have achieved this status.

Jay's practice focuses on financial services litigation and regulation, and he is actively involved in lawsuits and disputes across the country representing companies involved in a wide array of state and federal law claims.

A significant portion of Jay's practice is devoted to helping lenders and servicers of Home Equity Conversion Mortgages (HECMs or "reverse mortgages") implement regulatory changes mandated by HUD, as well as interfacing directly with HUD to seek clarification about or revisions to proposed regulatory changes. As part of his general regulatory practice, Jay develops and regularly updates standardized judicial and non-judicial foreclosure documents for mortgage companies, conducts third-party vendor management legal compliance interviews, and provides due diligence of internal procedures and files being service-transferred between financial institutions and mortgage companies.
